

The answer to this old, clichéd riddle is friendship. Even though it's been told and retold several times it still holds ground, true friendship never sinks..

day of every August, we celebrate it in advance at our school campus. This day encourages us to develop good understanding,

People are social creatures, we like being around people, and we like making friends. We like them so much that we have a whole day devoted to celebrating friendships whose warmth leaves us fuzzy with feelings.

Friendship Day is celebrated every year in Pearson School, Kompally. Since it falls on the first Sun-ing, respect for diversity, and a culture of peace between people, countries, and individuals. We tied friendship bands to the wrist of our friends.

Teachers too made new friends while thanking the old ones for the huge role they play in their life.
